Position purpose

The Clinical Support Nurse (CSN) is responsible for the delivery of practical and applied clinical support to nursing staff in the learning environment, in a manner consistent with achievement of the Best Practice Clinical Learning Environment (BPCLE). The role is responsive to local and organisational priorities and develops the foundational and specialty knowledge required to deliver high quality nursing care to Austin Health patients.

About the Directorate/Division/Department

Clinical Nursing Education Department (as part of the Clinical Education Unit)

The Clinical Nursing Education Department provides Austin Health with contemporary, evidence-based clinical education programs which are congruent with organisational strategic plans and needs. Clinical education is delivered by the nursing education team, predominantly through an inter-professional, collaborative and person-centered approach which encompasses all available and appropriate teaching and learning methodologies.

The Clinical Nursing Education Department is part of the Clinical Education Unit (CEU) within Austin Health and provides clinical nursing education service to clinical areas, supporting nurses including those enrolled in Entry to Practice, Graduate Nurse programs, Transition to Specialty Practice and Post-graduate Nursing programs. Each clinical nursing education team has a group of Clinical Nurse educators and Clinical Support Nurses, led by a Clinical Education Coordinator.

Position responsibilities

Role Specific:

- Provide direct expert clinical support, leadership, and supervision to learners, with support of the Clinical Nursing Education Department and key stakeholders.
- Provide direct clinical instruction and supervision to develop high quality care skills to nurses across the professional development framework, including Entry to Practice, graduate nurses, Transition to Specialty Practice, postgraduate nurses, newly appointed or less experienced nurses and all nursing staff.
- Deliver educational support according to the BPCLE indicators, in conjunction with the Clinical Education Coordinator and Clinical Nurse Educator.
- Monitor the congruence between educational inputs and the attainment of patient care standards, in conjunction with the Clinical Education Coordinator and Clinical Nurse Educator(s).
- Participate in the activities of a learning framework within the allocated clinical area portfolio in conjunction with the Clinical Education Coordinator and Clinical Nurse Educator(s), in line with the teaching and learning principles of the Clinical Education Unit.
- Have a thorough understanding of the Specialty Practice Frameworks to maintain practice standards and support the learning and development of nursing staff working within the Direct Clinical Care domain of the Nursing Professional Practice Framework.
- Support the process of educational research and quality projects that ultimately translate to benefit care of patients at Austin Health.
- Conduct clinical assessment and assist in orientation of nurses to clinical areas, where relevant and in conjunction with key stakeholders.
- Monitor progress of nurses and provide feedback to Clinical Nurse Educator(s), Nurse Unit Manager, and the ward leadership team in collaboration with the learner.
- Provide educational input and assistance, including remedial teaching, into the performance management process and other support as required as deemed appropriate by the Clinical Education Coordinator and key stakeholders.
- Support the process of recruitment and retention of staff to the local environment and educational programs as required.
